The Scalp-grafting Experiment. Mrs. Mincle Wilch, the wife of Herman Wilck, who owns a steam laundry in New York, was scalped on December 26, 1890, by ber hair being caught in the machinery of the laundry. She was taken to Belevue Hos-11'a', where the doctors decided to try skin grafting. More then half the part exposed healed under the ekin-grafting tresiment, and now only a place abut 514 inches remains open. Over that, however, the grafted skin refused to adhere, and two months ago the dectors decided to abandon the experiment and leave ankin to form of its own secord. Dr. Olissu, who is in charge of the esse, says that granulation has c-seed and that the epithelium promised to cover the raw place. He declined to say when the natical might leave the hospital, but he thought if she continued to improve as she had improved during the past few weeks that the would would be entirely bested tefore the end of the year.

USED MUMMIES FOR A FONFIRE.-The burning of a case containing two mummies of Fgsptian princes, the only one of the kind left in the land of the Pharaohs, was the cause of the arraignment of the Pharachs, was the cause of the arraignment of Alfred Madden and Jemes Lakeman in the Kings County Court of Sessions for malicious mischief. Foth pleaded not guilty. Judge Moore remanded both men to jail. The mummies, which are said to have been worth $1 000 in elephants' tuks in the city of Alexandria, were confisied in a large case, together with a piece of coral, said to worth $500, and are owner shell with a sponse. This treasured collection was taken from the front of Marcus Hirsch's store, No. 242 Bridge street, by the secused, it is alleged, and was used to feed a benfire on election night at Bridge and Chapel street.—New York Herald
